Welcome . . .

The 1966 CARDINAL staff, the faculty, and the student body of Glendale High School wish to welcome Mr. John Irwin as the new principal of Glendale High.

It is not easy for a new principal to adjust to the set ways of an old, and tradition-filled school; but Mr. Irwin has done an admirable job of adjusting. With his warm personality and fast-paced ideas and programs, he has had no trouble in gaining the respect and friendship of the students and faculty alike.

The future of Glendale High School looks good, and with Mr. Irwin at the controls, its success is assured.

Mr. Irwin

"The 1966 CARDINAL will be a source of pleasure for you now and in the years to come. It will be a way for you to recall the friendships, the activities, and the accomplishments in your school for 1965-66. For many students, especially seniors, it will be a means to see the changes that have taken place. These changes in buildings, programs, and staff are important but not as important as the individual changes in students going on constantly.

Hopefully, Glendale High is here to give each of you a chance to know and to understand yourself and then use this knowledge to change and to grow. As you are enjoying this fine annual, ask yourself if you are using or have used Glendale High for the most desirable changes and growth in you."

Joh Durin

Education Involves . . .

Manual Skill As Well As

Astronauts must use many different tools and instruments to insure a safe and successful flight. The laser beam is a modern innovation which can be used to cut or burn through hard substances. It is only one of the various new discoveries which may some day play an important part in space flight and exploration.

High school students also need instruments and tools to help them study harder and learn more. Drafting and carpentry tools are used in a class where skill and careful planning work together to create better and more perfect results.

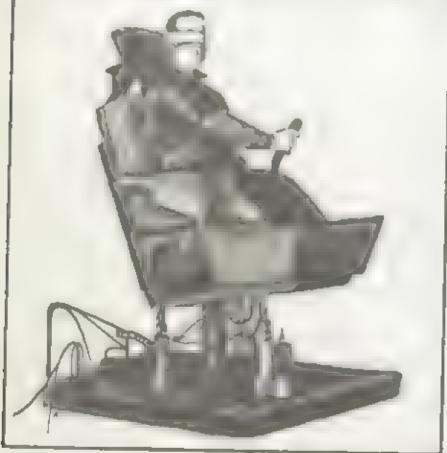

Still, the greatest tools that either astronauts or students can use are clear thinking and an alert mind. Without these basic essentials, neither a flight in space nor a high school education can be successful.

Intellectual Skill

A Successful Future — In Space And

On Earth — Requires Training

One of the important facets of a high-school education is the physical training taught to the students. Whether it is weightlifting, doing push-ups, or gymnastics, the result is the same—improved physical well-being. You might agree that the astronauts should undergo physical training, but why you as a high school student. It's true that this is an age of advanced learning, in which intellectual knowledge receives top priority; but it is also an age that is so accelerated that you must be in good physical condition to keep pace.

To the Students of Glendale High School

"The members of the administrative staff feel that the 1965-66 school year has been successful. We hope that you, the students at Glendale High School, feel the same. To those of you who are seniors, remember that you have just completed the first major step in your education. Whether or not you plan to continue formal education, you must continue to educate yourselves by keeping well informed on the local, national, and international scenes. To the underclassmen, I wish to say that the students of the past have built the fine reputation which you enjoy at Glendale High School. You, through your contribution, will maintain and build the reputation of the future. We congratulate you on another successful year at Glendale High School!"

Superintendent And Board Along With

BOARD OF EDUCATION Mr. Arthur F Sine, Mr. Den Sanderson President, Mrs Gravdon B. Hall, Mr John F. Long, Dr. Joseph P. Voorbees, Clerk.

MR. JOHN IRWIN is the Principle (Prime) sink

"If a principal can aid the students in realizing that they are individuals of great worth in the school and community, then he has accomplished a great deal," states Mr. Irwin. This is the statement of a man who is always striving to discover how to achieve this goal.

"A school will only be as great as the students attending it make it. Students may accomplish this goal, and in turn receive personal satisfaction, by both taking from the school and through contributions to it. By taking from the school I refer to knowledge gained and high grades received through individual effort. By contributions to your school I refer to student participation in the many activities offered," declares Mr. Christensen.

To the seniors, Mr. Richardson says, "May you use the fine attitudes and habits developed at GHS over the past years to achieve the goals which you desire." To the underclassmen, he says, "I hope you will continue to develop the attitudes and habits which will be necessary to your growth throughout your lifetime."

CLASSES A graduating student, like an astronaut, must be ready and able to face the difficulties which lie ahead.

Prepare For Take-Off . . .

The Freshmen have succeeded in getting off the ground in their first year of high school. Her used a aghter-than air craft, a primitive gas filled balloon. Although this may seem to be a very elementary step in flight progress, it is this fast year, and this first flight, which will guide them to seek higher ideals and goals in the years to come.

The Sophon ores are in a class by themselves. In their second year of high school they have conjucted their fear of here is and learned to soar into the blue with skill and confidence. Even though they have not yet reached the rocket propalsion level of upperclassion anship, they will soon abandon their propeller operated planes and take that big step into the future to become the members of the jet set.

The Juniors have reached the jet are and are now tapidly approaching the day whom they will prepare for a sket facilit. They are in a high ferm of flight experience and advancement, and next year they will take a leading role in our high school activities. The members of the class of 1967 are examples of the flyers who are now ready for the recket training program of advanced learning, which the Seniors have one untered

The Seniors are preparing to blast off from the launching pad of graduation and tocket to the not so distant worlds of college, nulitary service, job training, and adult responsibility. They have gone through four years of extensive training and study to prepare themselves for this, the greatest moment of their lives. They must make only their final preparations during the countdown of the few weeks left to blast off time. The information and experience which the graduating students of 1906 have pathered during their high school career will be put to good use as they become the leaders of tomorrow's society. After their lift off, these graduating seriers will leave the world of high school and climb to the stars of future life.

A BEGINNING

Chorus 1, 2, 3
BARBARA WILSON

Mr. Richmond's accelerated English class discusses the many phases of Chinese Life—from religion to social customs.

Lively debates are common in Mrs Cropper's Caries classes when Senars discuss governmental practices.

Seniors were imaginative this year with their interpretation of the Homecoming theme.

HONOREES

Efforts spent in hard study and extensive training pay off in leadership ability and special recognition for accomplishments.

Foreign Exchange Student

Paula Seiler

Most of Switzerland consists of hills, Alps and high mountains, our people are still simple and hardworking, but very friendly and always most happy to welcome guests or travelers.

In our small land you find so many different types of climate, nature and countryside, that it could almost be termed: "The Europe in miniature!"

I gained a lot of new, exciting and necessary views about America, and I can tell, that I just love it with its people, the desert and the new discoveries. I may have every day. I hope, that after I am gone, your picture and impression I have given you about Switzerland will stay with you. I certainly shall always remember the land and its people who made it possible for me to spend here one of my most wonderful years!

Cardinals Picked To Make Film

Lights, camera, action ... 'Il seven the standents and faculty of Glendale High School were greatly honored by having their football team chosen to be the "actors" in a very important film. The film concerns the many football rules and regulations and will be shown across the nation. Our team worked long hours filming different plays and football situations which were contained in the film. The student body was also given a chance to perform, and they added an extra touch of realism as they cheered from the stands. The credit for this filming honor goes to the successful GHS football team of 1965.

A fight ensues as these two men fight over "their girl".

The Great Big Doorstep

A story of a poor family, this play was a challenge for the actors to convince themselves that it was hot and muggy while they were very cold. The stage crew worked many hours to make the set come to life. Many live plants were used, including a 700 pound orange tree. Mike Wagenfehr portrayed the commodore with Jane Rills as his wife. Other members of the family included Portia Allen, Andrew Allison, Barbara Conyard, Ruth Allen and Ginger Fogleson; the latter two being grade school students. Our wonderful director, Mr. Cox, spent many hours on both the acting and the set design; producing a very good show.

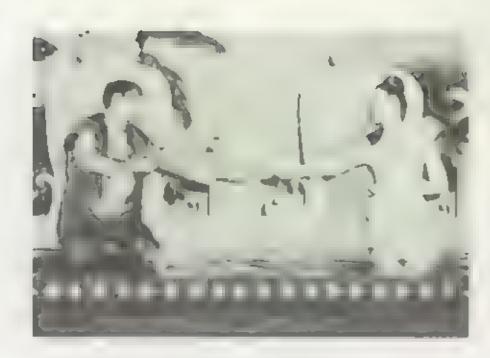

As the fight continues, one man lets the other know who is boss,

"That ole foot still white like a quail leg."

Do you believe that the world was created in a week or in many thousand years?

Anna is introduced to the King by the Kralahome.

The King And I

The King and I is one of the most famous musicals produced by Rodgers and Hammerstein. The story presents the dramatic and comical conflicts between the strong-willed school teacher and the revered King of Siam. The counter-plot of the play is a romance between Tuptim, a Burmese slave girl who is a gift to the King, and Lun-Tha, an ambassador from Burma.

GHS Thespians presented this play on March 30, 31, April 1, and 2. The cast consisted of more than a hundred students. The leading characters, Anna and the King, were played by Jenny Krueger and Frank Gericke. Other parts include Gary Naylor as Lun-Tha, Cydne Pidgeon as Tuptim, and Lois Reedy as Lady Thiang.

This year, Glendale had a fine crew of varsity hopefuls. With a brilliant record of seven wins, one tie and one loss, our JVs proved to be a top-notch team with a hard-fought but highly successful season. We are proud of our JVs this year and have reason for high hopes in coming years.

"The tennis teams have a good chance to go to the state tennis tournaments this year," stated Miss Leeke, coach of the varsity and junior varsity girl's tennis teams.

Glendale will send two girls to the District singles tournament and four girls to the doubles tournament. If the girls win in the District Tournament they qualify for the State Tournament.

Thus far in this year's season of fifteen matches, they have won their match against Paradise Valley and lost their match against Phoenix Union.

The prospects for a winning season are very good with several returning Lettergirls.

Sportswomen Prove Skills

Exercises for good posture is an essential part of physical education class.

William Tell could not have done it better!

Peggy Amperse takes her stance for a strike.

Girls learn folk dances in their physical education class.

Learning how to tee off are Mary Espinoza, Lola Lopez, and Carol Dieterich.

This is a folk dance, not pattycake.

"Bend farther garls if you want to get these extra pounds off."

Who surfigures den't play for that!"
